Children's Foundation of Canada

加拿大宋慶齡兒童基金會

August 2008

Overview

Purpose:

The Soong Ching Ling Children's Foundation of Canada is dedicated to improving the education, health and welfare of children in both China and Canada. It upholds the spirit of international cooperation that was personified by Soong Ching Ling (1893-1981), who received international acclaim for her dedication to the emancipation of the Chinese people from domestic and foreign oppression and for her tireless efforts to better the lives of Chinese children.

Projects:

The Foundation provides financial support to various projects that foster understanding, cooperation and education among children from two diverse cultures. These projects currently include:

- Support for The Stars and Rain Centre for Autism in Beijing, one of the few facilities that exist in China to assist Chinese children diagnosed with autism.
- An international symposium, this year in Richmond, B.C., for professionals and practitioners in the field of early childhood education. To date, four symposia have been held in China and Canada, attracting experts in early childhood education from several countries.
- Scholarships that enable financially-needy students in the poorest areas of China to pursue an education.
- Financial support for a Chinese-speaking family support worker and supervised after-school Kids First Programme for children at risk who attend Hastings Community School in East Vancouver. This inner city school has a high population of students whose families recently immigrated from China, who are among the children in the school who benefit from these programmes. The SCLCFC also has raised funds for the Kids First programme which is a supervised after-school programme that benefits students and families of all ethnic backgrounds.

Results and Future Impact:

Statistics from 2006 suggest China is home to 265 million children under the age of 14, a full 20% of China's population. This generation is emerging at a unique point in history, where there is a tremendous disparity between the quality of life enjoyed by young Chinese who are wealthy or poor, and thriving or barely surviving. The key to bridging this gap of opportunity is education.

The above projects actively demonstrate these virtues, and The Soong Ching Ling Children's Foundation believes that this demonstration of altruistic giving will also help to instill these virtues in the lives and hearts of children who have never previously benefitted from them.

It is the hope of the SCLCFC that the children who benefit from our programmes will become responsible and giving citizens; who are inspired to become successful, yet compassionate members of a global, socially responsible society.

In Canada the Foundation's projects have effectively assisted children of many ethnic backgrounds in their transition to life in Canada as they continue to learn about, and understand, their own unique cultural heritage.

What can you do ?

The Soong Ching Ling Children's Foundation of Canada is a non-profit, registered charitable foundation (# 886398593). We encourage individuals, foundations and businesses to work towards these common goals through financial donations and personal involvement.

MISSION STATEMENT

The Soong Ching Ling Children's Foundation of Canada is dedicated to improving the lives of children in China and Canada. It upholds the spirit of international cooperation, personified by Soong Ching Ling's life.

HISTORY AND PURPOSE

Soong Ching Ling, or Mme. Sun Yat-Sen (1893-1981) is internationally acclaimed as one of the 20th century's most renowned female leaders. She was loved and revered for her dedication to the emancipation of the Chinese people from domestic and foreign oppression, and to international peace and good will. One of her greatest concerns was the protection of children, their education and welfare, for which she worked tirelessly all her life.

After her death on May 29, 1981, members of her family, friends and admirers in different parts of the world set up independent Soong Ching Ling foundations to honour her memory and carry on her work for the children. The Soong Ching Ling Children's Foundation of Canada (SCLCFC) was the first to be founded, immediately after Mme. Soong Ching Ling passed away. There are currently such foundations in Beijing, Shanghai, Canada, Japan and Hungary.

The links between the SCLCFC and the Soong Ching Ling Foundations in Beijing and Shanghai are purely technical. In China, these foundations are government agencies responsible for the welfare of children and women. Through mutual agreements, these foundations have consented to act as conduits to help the SCLCFC in its work for children's education and welfare in China.

The SCLCF Canada is a voluntary, totally non-political, non-profit foundation. It is devoted to linking the people of Canada and China for the education, health and welfare of children in both countries, in the spirit of international cooperation, which Soong Ching Ling's life personified.

THE STARS AND RAIN CENTRE FOR AUTISM

The Stars and Rain Centre for Autism in Beijing China was founded in 1993 by Tian Huiping (English name: Hope Tian), the mother of a child diagnosed with autism. At that time, autism was a rare diagnosis in China, and little known. She learned about Applied Behavioral Analysis programmes (ABA) abroad (this is the main type of therapy used with children with autism in North America), and founded her school on a completely private basis to work with her child and help other children with autism. Since then the school has expanded, and now provides services to many families of children with autism from all over China.

The school still receives no governmental support, but has received donations from China and abroad that have helped maintain and expand the programme. Current estimates are that there are at least 400,000 children with autism in China, and hardly any services to help these children or their families. This school has helped over 2000 children and families.

Our Board members have been very impressed by what they learned during visits to the Institute since October 2005. They saw a very dedicated group of staff and teachers working extremely hard with very limited resources to provide services to autistic children and their families, families who are willing to make large sacrifices to find ways to help their children.

In 2008

The plan to invite two teachers to Vancouver for training was stranded due to the teachers' being declined for their visa application to enter Canada. As a result, SCLCFC Board explored an alternative method of delivering advanced training to the center's teachers. The Board approached Dr. Suzanne Jacobsen, a leading Canadian expert on educating autistic children who agreed to travel to Beijing to present a four-day workshop on Applied Behaviour Analysis/Verbal Behaviour. Dr. Jacobsen's workshop was attended by 62 teachers from 37 self-supported organizations located in 27 cities across China.

Hugo Chan, a member of the SCLCFC program committee who has extensive experience in autism family support training, presented a one-day workshop on Positive Behaviour Support. The 62 teachers were joined by more than 60 parents of children with autism at this workshop.

The SCLCFC provided a relatively modest budget of approximately $12,500 (Canadian) for the two workshops. These funds were used to cover the travel and hotel costs of the two speakers, a small honorarium to Dr. Jacobsen, the costs of materials for the workshop, and to subsidize some of the train fares for participants from far away who would otherwise have been unable to attend.

Stars and Rain would like to be able to offer more scholarships to ease the financial burden of families who come to the Institute, and to enable more families to come to Beijing for the training. It also would like to provide more outreach programmes for families living outside Beijing, and to start a programme for older children with autism.

Currently, the Institute rents its main facility (which is in very poor condition) and has no guarantee of long-term stability; it badly needs a permanent home. SCLCFC hopes to raise more funds, so that in the future we can offer even more assistance to this wonderful programme that has helped so many children and their families.

INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM On Early Childhood Education

History of the Symposium

The International Symposium on Early Childhood Education was the brainchild of Dr. Glen Dixon, then president of Soong Ching Ling Children's Foundation of Canada (SCLCFC). Dr. Dixon and his students at the University of British Columbia were instrumental in providing academic assistance to establish the Shanghai SCL Child Development Research Centre and the International Department of the Shanghai SCL Kindergarten.

Through their work, it became obvious that early childhood educators in both Canada and China welcome the opportunity to learn about each others' best practices and research. SCLCFC, with the collaboration of Shanghai SCL, then organized the first International Symposium on Early Childhood Education in Vancouver, BC in the fall of 1999. The symposium was a success and encouraged both foundations to establish it as a bi-annual event to be hosted alternately by SCLCFC and Shanghai SCL. To date, four symposia have been held, and a fifth is planned for October 2007.

1999: SCLCFC hosted the first symposium in Vancouver, BC. The theme was "Environmental Awareness."

2001: Shanghai SCL hosted the second symposium in Shanghai, with a theme of "Early Childhood Creativity Education." It attracted educators and researchers from China and Canada, as well as Taiwan, Hong Kong and Italy.

2003: SCLCFC hosted the third symposium in Richmond, BC. The theme was "Cross-Cultural Perspectives on Early Childhood Education." Shanghai SCL sent a delegation of eight educators from various parts of China.

2005: Shanghai SCL hosted the fourth symposium in Shanghai with the theme: Early Childhood Education in Multi-cultural Background. It was attended by over 100 academics and practitioners from eight countries and regions. SCLCFC was represented by an eight member delegation. Directors Nina Halpern and Even Adams as well as advisor Ben Choi presented papers.

2007: SCLCFC hosted the fifth symposium in Richmond Canada. The two-day symposium was themed "The Whole Child". Five Early Childhood Educators (ECE) from Shanghai delivered papers on early childhood development and education to an audience of Canadian ECEs, ECE training faculty, parents and other professionals .

The Foundation was extremely fortunate to be able to attract the support of a contingent of seven eminent Canadian presenters amongst who was Dr. Clyde Hertzman, from the University of British Columbia's Human Early Learning Partnership and previous recipient of the SCLCFC's "For the Children Award".

Overall, the two-day international cross-cultural exchange of knowledge was supported by a series of inspiring research and educational presentations delivered by Canadian and Chinese Early Childhood specialists.

The Paul and Eileen Lin Endowment Trust Fund and Scholarship Programme

Eileen Lin

The Paul and Eileen Lin Scholarship Fund was established in 2001 to help students in needy regions of China to complete
senior high school education.

The generosity of the late Paul T.K. Lin and his widow Eileen Lin helped create a substantial base for the Scholarship Fund.

Mrs. Lin
remains an active
Trust Fund Director.

The Paul and Eileen Lin Scholarship Fund

In 2001 Professor and Mrs. Lin decided to donate $190,000, total funds of the Linbridge Foundation, to provide financial assistance to talented students who are otherwise not able to attend senior high school. Inspired by the Lins' generosity and altruism, the Soong Ching Ling Children's Foundation held a fundraising dinner in September 2001 and raised $110,000 to augment the donation from Prof. and Mrs. Lin. This marks the beginning of the Paul and Eileen Lin Endowment Trust. The funds have since grown to over $360,000 by the end of 2005 and are invested in a portfolio of low risk government bonds with an annual yield of approximately 5%. The income from this portfolio is disbursed as the Paul and Eileen Lin Endowment Trust Scholarship.

While the government policy in China supports free education for children attending Grade 1 to Grade 9, some children in poorer regions, usually the rural farming regions, cannot afford to attend senior high schools due to financial constraints. The purpose of the Paul and Eileen Lin Scholarship Fund is to bridge the gap so that some of these students could continue their education through senior high school, and even have a chance of university education through other scholarships or student loans that are available. In addition to helping students with their education, one objective of the Fund is to foster the idea of giving and helping other people.

At the start, disbursements to high schools in An Hui province and Ning Xia province commenced in the 2003-2004 school year. In 2004, a third school in Inner Mongolia was added to the scholarship programme and in 2005 a fourth school in Xing Long County in Hebei Province was also added to the programme. The funding in each location is 30,000 RMB annually providing assistance to 30 students at each location for a total of 120 students in the four locations.

The schools that currently receive scholarships through the Endowment Trust are:

- Nan Xi Middle School,

- Gu Yuan No. 2 Middle School, and Hui Minority School,
Ning Xia Hui Autonomous Region
- Wu Dan No. 1 Middle School,
Inner Mongolia
- Xing Long No. 1 Middle School,
He Bei Province.

Every year, RMB 1,000 is distributed to each of the 120 students from these five schools. They have demonstrated academic excellence and a true need for financial assistance.

They are selected by a committee consisting of the teachers of the schools and representatives from the local school district. Information on the recipients and their progress throughout the school years are reported to the Foundation through our local agents, i.e. The Shanghai Soong Ching Ling Foundation and The Beijing Soong Ching Ling Foundation.

Over the years, Board Members have traveled to these schools on their own time at their own expense to meet with the students and their teachers. We have never failed to be impressed by the students' appreciation of our help and their determination to succeed.

China is a growing economic power and it is hoped that government assistance will be available to students going to school beyond Grade 9 in the not too distant future.

The Three Year Senior High School Scholarship Programme

Through our work in the Paul and Eileen Lin Endowment Trust Scholarship project, we realized that there are indications that the government of China is recognizing the void of financial aid for senior high school students and that they are going to take measures to remedy that in the near future. This realization inspired us to start a separate short-term Three Year Senior High School Scholarship Programme at the end of 2005, to help bridge the gap until the government is able to act on that recognition. Donors are solicited to commit to donating a certain amount for a three-year term. Donations to this programme provide direct financial aid to students. In contrast to the Paul and Eileen Lin Scholarship Fund where only the annual interest income earned on the fund is disbursed, donations to this programme provides direct financial aid to the student; and funding and disbursements are matched annually.

The first funding was sent in September 2006 to China to benefit 100 students from three schools in Ning Xia. This short-term programme will take five years to complete because the Grade 10 students receiving funding in the third year will still have two years to go until they graduate. This short term programme will actually take five years to complete because the Grade 10 students selected in the third year will take another two years to complete their Grade 12. We already have commitments from donors to provide funding for the full five years.

We hope that our scholarship programmes can change the lives of young people by assisting them to pursue higher education. We can see how economic development in the big cities will provide life expanding opportunities, both negative and positive for the youth of China. Through the provision of assistance to these students at an early age, we hope to promote the concept of giving and caring for the less privileged. It is hoped that students benefiting from our scholarship programme will learn these values as they grow up, and become useful and responsible citizens of the society.

Messages from our scholarship students in China

Translated from Chinese by Cynthia Lam

From Zhang Lian Yeh

I can't guarantee you anything, but one thing I firmly believe, is that victory belongs to determined people. I will not disappoint you. For my parents, and for my country, I must work hard to be accepted and enter a good university, so that I can later contribute to the building of my village and my country. China is a developing nation, still behind in economy, science and technology. She is in great need of knowledgeable, cultured and able people to help build it up. And I hope to be one of them. My hometown Gou Yuen, is a small hilly village, surrounded by big mountains. People here barely manage to survive, education is far from being a priority... educating girls is thought simply as a waste of time, as they will be married off and work for other families sooner or later. As a result, very few girls get to go to school. For this, and this alone, I'm determined to study hard, aiming at changing this outdated mentality and at creating a new face for my village. I know this scholarship did not come easily, they are from your own expenses. This scholarship represents your love for our country, it also symbolizes the friendship between the 2 countries. The world today indeed is in need of this friendship, people around the world are in search of peace and compassion, to build a beautiful big family... our planet earth.

From Kwok Juen - 2nd year

I feel so privileged to have received your scholarship. I do not dare to think what would happen if I didn't have your help. Maybe, like many young girls in the village, I may have left home trying to earn a living on my own, roaming around all by myself, and wasting my youth away day after day.. Or maybe I'd be like my Mother, working in the fields every single day, looking far, praying for the miracle to happen, for a better harvest. I was so frightened, looking at what lay ahead of me, as it felt like I was just dreaming...

I was so afraid that it was all but a dream... Until I calmed myself, and then I realized it was all true what you have brought me. Words became powerless to express how I felt. All I could try to do is to transform these words into actions, to study and to work, to pay back to my country and my community.

From He - 1st year

This I owe to you, my dear benefactors! I pledge to do the following as my meagre ways to repay you:

1. I will study diligently and strive for excellence in both academic and moral behaviours.
2. I will strive to work to improve the quality of life for the farm village, and to improve access to schooling for its poor children. I will also forever support any organization with a loving heart, like your Foundation.

Please believe in me. And allow me to say once more: Thank you!

From Li Fung -1st year

The mountain village I come from is very poor, very few of the children go to school, let alone girls! And I am the only girl who goes to school. My Dad often wants me to go help in the farm like other parents do with their children, but every time, my Mom struggled and fought hard from her sick bed to prevent this. Whenever I think back on this, I can't help but shed tears, and reminding myself the promises I made, to study hard to enter a good university, and to work hard towards helping other needy children, against this feudal mentality, doing my share to making change and to contribute to society.

The Hastings School Project

Photograph by permission

Honorary Chairperson Mrs. Eileen Lin and pupils from Hastings School

Since 2004, the Foundation has been providing assistance to two very important projects at Hastings Community School; the hiring of a part-time Chinese-speaking family support worker and the after-school Kids First activities programme.

The fundraising dinner proceeds of $12,000 in 2004 were donated to the school to hire a part-time, Chinese speaking, family support worker to fill a void which was created by government funding cuts. Gore Mutual also donated $2,000.

The work of this family support worker has proved to be very valuable, based on the reports from the community school coordinator at Hastings Community School. The Foundation organized another successful fundraising dinner in September 2006 and again raised $12,000 to continue funding this position. A planned calligraphy exhibit and sale of works by renowned calligrapher Mr. Yim Tse, to be held in August 2007, is expected to raise another $6,000 to continue funding the family support worker.

The Foundation is also very aware of the importance of the after-school programs for the students, especially students at the inner city schools such as Hastings Community School. Through the work of the Foundation, $12,000 was raised from the Ministry of Child Care in 2005 which was contributed toward the cost of the Kids First Program. The Kids First program provides supervised activities for children at risk in the after-school hours. In 2006, again through the work of the Foundation, Teck Cominco Limited has committed to donate $20,000 to the cost of the Kids First program for three consecutive years.

The Board members of the Foundation are very concerned that many of the needs of the students at the Hastings Community School, and many other inner city schools, are not met due to a lack of funding.

The Foundation intends to approach other organizations, such as the Rotary Clubs and Lions' Clubs in the Vancouver community, to enlist more support for these schools. Efforts will also be directed to bringing this information to the public and government representatives, so that children in our very own community that are at risk and in need will not be left unattended.

The Poetry Project

As part of the continuation of a Poetry Project initiated in 1998, our current project produced electronic audio and video teaching materials of classical Chinese poetry studies by Professor Yeh Jia Ying and provides free distribution to universities in China, Canada and other countries.

Professor Chia-Ying Yeh, Mrs. Eileen Lin & Library Representatives in the Vancouver area.

The first series of materials was the production of a set of VCD's on Professor Chia-Ying Yeh's "Seventeen Lectures on Lyric Poetry of the Tang and Song Dynasties".

The distribution of these sets has already begun with the initial presentation in Vancouver in June 2007 to several Vancouver Region libraries. Special thanks to Simon Fraser University and its personnel, especially Prof. Jan Walls, for their participation in this important event, and the use of the David Lam Centre for the Presentation.

A Brief Biography of Professor Chia-ying Yeh

Professor Yeh is a Chinese Canadian and a renowned scholar of classical Chinese poetry in the genres of Shi (poetry) and Ci (lyric poetry). She is a Fellow of the Royal Academy of Canada; Professor Emeritus of University of British Columbia; Honorary Research Fellow of the Institute of Literature, Chinese Academy of Social Science; Director of the Institute of Classical Chinese Culture at Nan Kai University, Tian Jin, China. She has taught at Taiwan University, Harvard University and Michigan University.

As a conscientious scholar, she has devoted herself to the study, research and teaching of classical Chinese literature, Chinese poems and lyric poetry for six decades with outstanding achievements. She has published more than twenty scholastic works on the study of Chinese poetry and lyric poetry in China, Taiwan, Hong Kong and U.S.A. Some of her works are considered classics in the field of Classical Chinese Literature.

In 1993, with the co-operation of Nan Kai University, Prof. Yeh initiated the establishment of the Institute of Classical Chinese Culture. It is Professor Yeh's great desire to preserve and propagate Classical Chinese Culture. In addition it is her wish to encourage the younger generation to pursue classical Chinese studies. She believes that classical Chinese poems and lyric poetry are the essence of traditional Chinese culture.

Reading poetry allows one's mind to resonate with that of the "ancients" of thousands of years ago. Prof. Yeh firmly believes that not only can one enjoy the beauty of poetry, it is equally important for one to appreciate the philosophical and moral thoughts expressed within. This, she believes is of utmost importance to the younger Chinese generation.

& Mrs. Eileen Lin

The Soong Ching Ling Children’s Foundation of Canada “For the Children Award”, was established in 1996 when Theresa Odishaw stepped down as President of the Foundation. The Foundation wanted to present to her an appropriate award for her outstanding contribution.

During her presidency Theresa always signed her letters “For the Children” instead of “Yours truly”. The phrase became synonymous with the Foundation. Professor Paul T. K. Lin and Mrs. Eileen Lin co-founders of the foundation recommended an award called “For the Children Award”. Theresa Odishaw was the first recipient.

The Award continues to be given, to honour men and women who give selflessly of their time and talents to change for the better, the lives of children. The phrase “For the Children” is now used in all correspondence by the Soong Ching Ling Foundation of Canada and by the Soong Ching Ling Foundations in Shanghai and Beijing.

Former recipients include (in order of date of presentation)
